

NAUDHIZ — NEED

---

We do not have a name anymore.

That is not a figure of speech. We had one. Rome removed it from the records. We found this out later, when one of us learned Latin and looked. There is a gap in the census where we used to be. A note: region pacified. No tribe name. No count of people. Just: pacified.

We are nine people. One family. We walked here from wherever that region used to be. We brought these shields. We asked Mars to remember us.

We did not ask for revenge. We did not ask for justice. We asked to have existed.

That is all.

If you are standing here, that means something.

We do not know what.

But it means something.
